Jottings.

— Utah mining company has levied an assessment of $1 per share.

— The thermometer to-day struggled near ninety-two in the shade.

— Remember the social dance this evening at the Pollard house. Tickets not including supper, one dollar.

— The amount of assessable property in the Reno school district, as per last year's assessment roll, is $1,188,-157.

— A dance at Smith's Academy was on the tapis for this evening, but has fallen through.

— Ophir, with $244 rock, levies a dollar assessment. Savage also has called upon its stockholders for one dollar assessment deliquent July 10th.

— Any one desirous of purchasing a fine single top buggy, will consult their interest by glancing at "For sale" in the 50 cent column.

— Mr. Fulmer, former partner of Mr. S. F. Hoole, is in town. He has a furniture store with Mr. H. Ward, also a former Renoite, in Bodie.

— Mr. Holmes received a telegram to-day that the Pacific Coast Pioneers would hold their annual picnic on the 20th of July at Bowers' Mansion. In this the picnicers have betrayed excellent judgment.

— Captain Charley, of Wadsworth, has been elected chief of the Piute Indians, Natchez deposed. Our dispatch does not indicate the signifficance of this move, but no war-like demonstrations are anticipated.

— A very pleasant invitation party was given last evening by Miss Fanny Barnett at her father's residence. Dancing, a fine supper, excellent music, etc., constituted the young folks' amusement.

— A fairly-written poem to the tune of "I Want to be an Angel" was received at this office this morning. It is too rich for publication to-day. In fact, we are inconsiderate enough to insert in preference our own drivelings.

— Mr. Charles L. Queen, Secretary of the Workingmen's club, has withdrawn from the organization, believing that the controlling influence in this society is communistic in tendency. Other members will probably follow his example.

Arm Broken.

Young Frank Stoddard last night broke both bones of his left forearm, near the wrist. Late in the afternoon he rode on horseback up to Peavine. On his return, and when about two miles this side of Peavine, his horse stumbled and fell on his arm, badly breaking both the ulna and radius bones. Fortunately, the horse he was riding is very gentle, and Frank, after some difficulty, mounted and rode to Jim Woodword's cabin near the seminary. Jim took him into the house and went for Dr. Bergman, who set the injured member, and Frank is now as his brother's, Mr. Charles H. Stoddard. The accident occurred about 11 o'clock last night and at the time of its occurrence Frank was riding in a trot.

Petit Larceny.

This morning a tall, healthy looking young man by the name of John Sullivan, who says that he is a late arrival from Austin, was taken before Justice Richardson on a charge of pettit larceny. The circumstances of the case are as follows: At an early hour this morning Sullivan stole from the V. & T. freight platform three boxes of cherries. One of these boxes he sold to Mr. A. H. Barnes. After the sale was made Mr. Barnes walked down to the office, and seeing a number of similar boxes, ascertained that the above theft had been committed. Mr. B. accompanied officers Len Harris and Barlow around town for a short time when Sullivan was discovered and arrested in Douglass alley. He plead guilty to the charge in the Justice Court, saying that he was under the influence of liquor at the time, but would rather steal than work. He was sent across the river for twenty days.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC. — The Methodist sunday school have resolved as will appear from a glance at our fifty cent column, to have a grand Fourth of July picnic. The particulars as to fare etc., appear in their ad. We had trusted that our friends would go to Bowers' mansion instead of Treadway's grounds, not that we have any prejudice against Carson, by any means, but a fine country place like Bowers', possesses attractions for a picnic far ahead of a city. Bowers' mansion is the finest place that we know of in Nevada for a picnic. However, this is all to no purpose as the picnic will be given at Treadway's. It is quite probable that other schools will form part of the excursion.

FINE RESIDENCE.—Mr. Allen C. Bragg has commenced the erection of a residence on the corner of Seminary avenue and Fifth street. The main building will be 32 x 50, story and a half high, with a six foot ell and a large bay window in the south side of the building. Mr. R. V. Borden has the contract for the foundation, and Mr. J. S. Sellers will build the superstructure. No time is set for the completion of the edifice. When it shall have been constructed Mr. Bragg will have one of the most desirable residences in town.

MASONIC.—The following named gentlemen were elected officers for the year in the Masonic Grand Lodge which was in session yesterday at Virginia city. H. L. Fish, of Reno, Grand Master; F. Furth, of Genoa, Deputy Grand Master; D. E. Bailey, of Eureka, Senior Warden; J. C. Currie, of Virginia, Treasurer; Rev. J. D. Hammond, of Carson, Grand Secretary; T. Rolfe, of Virginia, Junior Warden.

ALMOST A FIRE.—About 11:30 last night, the barn opposite the residence of Tom Barnett, on the corner of North Virginia and Fifth streets, caught fire, probably from a candle which a man who was sleeping in the stable at the time had used to light him to bed. Mr. Herbert Richardson discovered the flames and by promptly extinguishing them prevented the entire burning of this property.

STYLISH HATS.—Mrs. Noe Crall, desires to inform the ladies of Reno and vicinity that she will next Saturday morning open a stock of fine French hats, at Mrs. Fairchild's, corner of Commercial Row and Sierra street. All her goods are of the very latest style, and our lady friends will do well to give Mrs. Crall a call bepurchasing elsewhere. 3-t

PYRAMID AGAIN.

THE JONES & KINKEAD MINE.

Reasons for the Late Rise—Description of the Company's Property—What Perseverence and Economy Have Done.

Many of the best business men in Reno have maintained their confidence in the Pyramid mines, and retained there interests during the hard times of the previous winter. They have fortified their own opinions with the best judgment of experienced miners, who have visited the district, and throughout the year whenever the prospects of Reno came under discussion, Pyramid was always included in the calculation. There were a few, however, who surpassed all others for perseverance and faith in the new district. Among these were the Jones & Kinkead company, and especially Mr. J. E. Jones, Supt. and one of the principal owners of the mine. It has been Pyramid summer and winter with him, and the single example of his perseverance was almost enough to guarantee a future for the district. For a long time, however, the work done seemed to have no good results, and men forsook their claims one by one, not without hope, however, for the Jones & Kinkead was in a measure depended upon to prospect the district. The people had, however, ceased to await the arrival of semi-weekly news from Pyramid, and began to lose their active interest in the camp. Everybody was surprised therefore when last week the stock was quoted in demand at fifty cents per share. From a nominal value to $50,000, was quite a rise for any stock in these hard times, but this leap was quickly followed by bids for the stock at $1 and $1.25, and the old faith in Pyramid and its mines were immediately renewed and increased. Noting the general interest which was felt in the discovery, and realizing the significance of Pyramid's prosperity to every reader of the Gazette, we visited the camp and made a thorough inspection of the

JONES AND KINKEAD MINE.

Allow us to say right here that the opinions which we express are founded upon what we saw. We have tried in vain for one year to induce the Superintendent to give us the reasons for his faith. He has always refused, but said, "Come and see for yourself and say what you please." Facts which are plain to the eye are therefore treated on, and those who doubt should take the same course as we did.

The mine is situated about two miles in a southerly direction from the road to Pyramid lake. The shaft is on the summit of a high hill, and was commenced upon a line of croppings clearly defined, and running in a northwesterly and southeasterly direction. Upon this line are the King, Muran, Doan, Armstrong, Blaisdel, and other locations. The mine is worked by a whim with horse power and the buckets slide up and down in a sort of tram-way. After inspecting the surface indications the miles of croppings and locating the direction of the Buckeye, Monarch. Pioneer, Red Rover and Infant, we mounted one of the buckets and together with Superintendent Jones, descended the incline to the

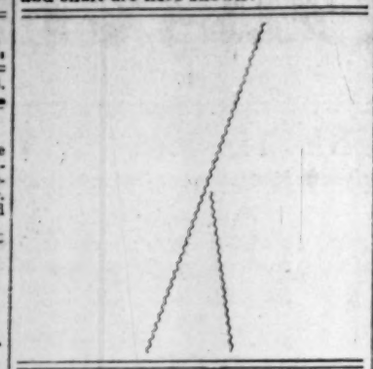
The dip of the ledge had been followed to this point, where a station was made, and drifts were run north and south. At a distance of fifteen feet to the north a feeder of ore was encountered which ran in a general westerly direction. This was penetrated, and the northerly shift continued to a total distance of forty feet without encountering anything worthy of note. At a distance of fifteen feet from the station, a cross-cut was made, fifty feet in length and towards the west. A drift of twenty feet was also run south. The ore on this level, while it betrayed the general characteristics of that since found, was of low grade, the assay value being $6, $7, and one as high as $153. At the 200 level the incline was discontinued and the shaft commenced. The relative directions of the ledge, incline and shaft are here shown:



At the intersection of the two lines the incline ends and the shaft begins, taking the vertical course indicated. The ledge takes the dip indicated by the straight line.

From the 200-foot level we descended again, this time in a vertical direction, and the light from above soon grew beautifully less. Mr. Jones talked lightly of the chances, and the Gazette reporter clutched the iron hook on the bucket until it was black and blue. The bucket halted suddenly and we were on the 300-FOOT LEVEL.

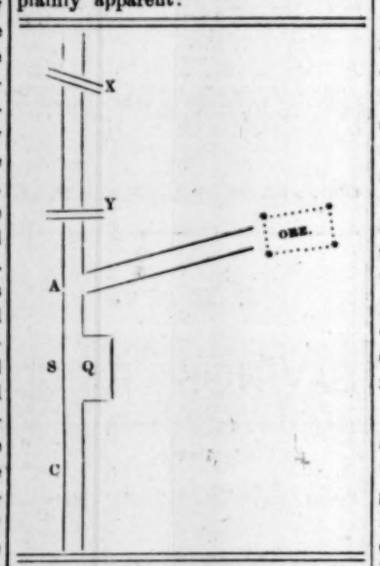
Here we dis-bucketed again, and this time we heard the sledge hammer and drill at work. From this level the company has taken out considerable ore, and the work still goes on. The width of the ledge, as determined upon this level is sixty-two and one-half feet, and the working is indicated in the subjoined diagram.

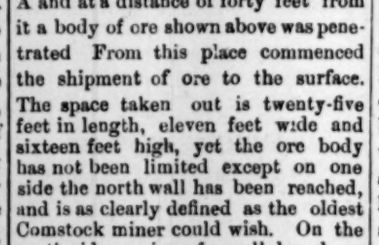
The diagrams appended are drawn as though one were looking from the surface. Take the diagram of the 300 level and put over that of the 330 and the similarity in formation will be plainly apparent:



S represents the shaft at the 300-foot level, and Q the station. A north drift was then run from Q, as shown, and at a distance of eighteen feet a feeder of ore, Y, was encountered. This was four feet in width and pointed, as shown in the diagram; at a distance of twelve feet from Y another feeder, X, was cut which pointed in the same direction as Y. These seemed to indicate a junction and large ore body. A cross-cut was then started from the point A and at a distance of forty feet from it a body of ore shown above was penetrated From this place commenced the shipment of ore to the surface. The space taken out is twenty-five feet in length, eleven feet wide and sixteen feet high, yet the ore body has not been limited except on one side the north wall has been reached, and is as clearly defined as the oldest Comstock miner could wish. On the south side no sign of a wall has been encountered and the upraise which they are now making in this ore chamber gives no indications of decrease in the ore. The formation and general character on the 300 is the same as that above only, it is richer. The assays from this level have reached from $20 to $271. From the 300 level we again descended, this time hand over hand on a ladder, and landed at the

330 FOOT LEVEL.

This level was mined because it was found impossible to keep the water encountered on the 400-foot level under control. There was no opportunity of testing the ore body on the 400 level, but from indications encountered on the 330 level it will be rich when found. On the 330 level, which has been worked but a short time. a very rich feeder to the main ore body has been encountered, as shown below:



Q. represents the station on the 330 level. From this point, as upon the 300 level, a north drift was run. At a distance of sixteen feet a feeder was cut through which ran in the same direction as above, thus indicating a continuation of the ore body found upon the two upper levels. The vein of ore found upon this level is four feet in width and richer than any yet found. The assays made from it were as follows:

Hard ore, $75 40 silver, $25 11 gold, total, $100 51. Fine red ore, $367 53 silver, $75 24 gold, total, $442 77.

It will be seen by reading of the 200 level and inspecting the diagrams of the 300 and 330 foot levels that the same character has followed the ore and ore body thus far, the only difference being the valuable fact that the assay value increases with the depth.

It is almost certain that when a cross-cut is run from the north drift of the 330 level that the same ore body cut on the 300 level will be found again, because the same direction is apparent in every vein yet penetrated, and all these point to a central ore body as they did on the 300. Every ore vein has increased in value with the depth, and should explorations on the 400 level discover the same formation the Jones & Kinkead will be a paying mine.

passed through in reaching the ore body are as follows, going from the shaft: 1. Blue clayey ledge matter, containing iron, and copper sulphurets. 2. Quartzite—hard and flinty formation. 3. Talc, four feet. 4. Porphyry. 5. Blue clay and syenitic formation. 6. Ore body or feeders.

The Jones & Kinkead company has now 250 tons of ore on the dump and plenty more in sight on the 300 and 330 levels. The work of hauling this ore to the Auburn mill, which has lately been leased by the company for a term of months, has already commenced. Three large mule teams will soon arrive from Gold Hill and take up this portion of the work. Ore will be hoisted as fast as possible, in order to furnish a sufficient quantity for a thorough test at the mill. The company has been hindered in the work of prospecting by the water which drove them out of the 400 level and now stands even with the 330 level.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

are contemplated in ordes to do away with this obstacle. It is desired to give the ore a practical test first. Bullion or no bullion, silver bricks or disappointment, is the question now. Pumping machinery or a tunnel which shall cut the ledge at a depth of 550 feet will come next. The company will also build a dump immediately, and erect an office, besides making improvements in the various houses now used by the employes. The company is building a direct road along the ridge to its property. When completed, this route will be shorter and more favorable to heavy teams than the one in use at present. The ore has the general characteristics of gold-bearing quartz, but also contains a portion which closely resembles the silver-bearing ore of the Comstock. Every indication points to the conclusion that a genuine ore body has at last been tapped, which at a proper depth will prove a source of dividends. People can, however, form their own conclusions, as we have stated the bare facts. We want to say a word now about in mine management. The Jones & Kenkead mine has cost stockholders $9000. In return for this they have 400 feet of shaft with whim etc., 250 feet of drifts and cross cuts, 250 tons of ore on the dump, besides the supplies etc., which have been necessary for carrying on the work already done. This is certainly a good showing, and they have reason to feel confidence in their managemont. No man can see that which is yet covered, but the indications point out a bright future for Pyramid. It has been brought about by the Jones & Kinkead and the pertinacity of Superintendent Jones.

IN GENERAL

the camp is looking up. Other companies are talking of resuming work, among which are the Buckeye, Monarch and Muran. A company of prospectors arrived from Washoe on Wednesday.

George Alt is road Supervisor, and one of the staunchest friends and workers which Pyramid ever had. Doctor Bishop makes semi-weekly trips. Dout Grey, is mining recorder. Every claim which is jumpable is changing owners. Hepperly swears that he will try some matrimony when he sells his Jones and Kinkead. Tuley Frank goes down to the Buckeye dump every night and rawhides himself. Thirty men are now at work in the district, twelve of whom are on the Jones & Kinkead. Matters are generally improving in town, and the lower town does a good business with the wayfarer. The Gazette will keep its readers informed of any new developements.

Mexican Border Troubles.

GALVESTON, June 13.—A San Antonio special says a gentleman who returned from Fork Clark last Friday reports that General Nuncio, commanding the Mexican government troops, was killed by Escobedo's soldiers near that place. On Saturday General Mackenzie and Colonel Shafter, with a strong force crossed into Mexico in pursuit of the raiders, about forty miles north of Eagle Pass, that night. They were obliged to return to Texas immediately, and telegraphed for reinforcements. Twenty companies of cavalry have been sent to their assistance, with a section of artillery, consisting of two Gatling guns, and two rifled cannon. It is believed at Fort Clark that these combined forces have re-entered Mexico. The troops have fifteen days' rations and a heavy train, with two experienced guides. Exciting news is expected.

Suicide at Sacramento.

A Sacramento dispatch of June 12th says: M. Marline came from San Francisco a month ago, and has a family there. He brought here a little girl five years old. He started a vegetable stand, but did not do well. Late to-day he and his child were seen sitting on the bank of the river on the Yolo side, above the bridge. Later the parties were missed, and the man's hat found floating on the river and the girl's sack in a skiff near the shore; also a letter partly torn up, addressed to Marline's landlord, telling him to take what was in the vegetable stand to pay his board bill. It is surmised that Marline took the child in his arms and committed suicide in the river.

Evening Gazette.

FRIDAY.....JUNE 14, 1878.

THE BLOODY BANNOCKS.

The Situation Along the Stage Road.

[From the Silver State.]

John Biggs, driver on the Northwestern stage line between here and Willow creek arrived Thursday afternoon, bringing in families from Baker's, Hoppin's and Snapp's places. The stage made no connection at Willow creek, and for twelve hours he remained there waiting for the stage due from the north, and ignorant of the fact that a driver had been killed, until a Piute who happened along, told him. He says that some two hundred Indian horses were seen between Willow creek and McDermit night before last, and undoubtedly there were as many riders resting while their horses were feeding. He believes that an Indian runner left here the evening the infantry went out and carried the news to the Bannocks, who consequently expected the soldiers, saved the people along the road from being scalped, as the runner was not aware of the fact that the troops came back to the railroad. He thinks the volunteers who left here Thursday can scarcely escape the Indians who outnumber them ten to one, and who are undoubtedly posted by runners as to their marches. Many of the Piutes have given proof of their friendship for the whites, while at the same time there is no doubt of others of the tribe having joined the Bannocks. It is reported up the road that Colonel Hardin, Fulgam and another man are missing, but whether they have been killed by the Indians or not, was not known. Piutes informed him that a band of Bannocks were going in the direction of Paradise valley, and another band were going down Quin river. All the stations from McDermit to Sheep ranch have been abandoned, and he could learn nothing about the extent of the depredations committed on stock ranches throughout the country.

THE VERY LATEST.

Sixty breech loading rifles arrived to-day by express. A company of five volunteers—Lieutenant Monroe, Aandrew Habbs, J. O. Ivory, H. Dalrympale and E. Jones—started with the stage to Camp McDermit with some arms and ammunition, and thirty guns were sent to Paradise Valley. Frank Burns arrived from the north to-day. He says himself and family were saved by Naches who informed him of the approach of the hostiles. The Northern Piutes are disposed to join the Bannocks, and Naches and Winnemucca are trying to prevent them. A note received by Burns from Croly's ranch at Juniper, says the Indians have taken everything, and the whites want assistance. Communication between different places is carried by friendly Piutes. Troops from the North are coming to the Owyhee, and General Howard is expect to open the road north of McDermit.

The European Congress.

BERLIN, June 12th.—Gortschakoff has arrived quite ill. The congress will probably sit on alternate days, each sitting to occupy about three hours. The first subject considered will probably be the degree of secrecy to be observed, and the military position at and near Constantinople.

VIENNA, June 12th.—It is said that the Porte does not intend to make any stand against a declaration of independence of Roumania, Servia or Montenegro. In regard to Asia, the Turks will plead that the Russian possessions of Kars would leave a great part of the country defenceless, and that the nationalities about Batoum are opposed to annexations to Russia.

BERLIN, June 13th,— On his arrival here Prince Gortschakoff was exceedingly pale. He was rapped in thick furs, and had to be carried from the train to his carriage by his attendants. His condition causes some apprehension.

BERLIN. June 13.—Yesterday was chiefly spent by the envoys to the congress in paying visits of ceremony, and in introduction and receptions. State carriages with richly carparisoned horses, outriders, and footmen in state costumes, rolled about the streets all the afternoon, comveying special envoys to and from the Old Castle, where they were received in audience by the Crown Prince, in order of the time of their arrival in Berlin. A severe thunder storm marred the outdoor proceedings. The British delegate and suite dined with Lord Otto Russell, British Ambassador. Prince and Princess Bismarck held a reception in the evening.

Thos. McDonald shot and killed Alex. Nixon, yesterday in a drunken row Nixon was President of the Miners' Union.
